I hope this product aids in your students' writing. I have taken a lot of time this year to focus on using transition words in writing. All I can say is, Wow! What a difference it made. I finally broke the dreaded habit of every sentence beginning with "And," "Then," "Next," and the other "go-to" words.

Using different transition words made the students' writing more interesting. I even had many students who challenged themselves to find ways to use different words!

Copy these helpful bookmarks onto cardstock and laminate. Cover an old corn/coffee/bean can with colorful contact paper and label the can "TRANSITION WORDS BOOKMARKS! EXCITING WRITING TOOL!" Place the cans at each group or at your writing center and watch your students writing improve.
